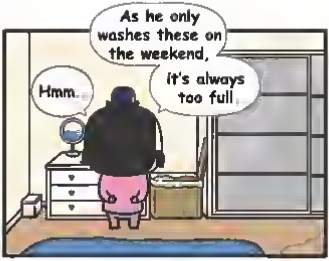
Because of the laundry

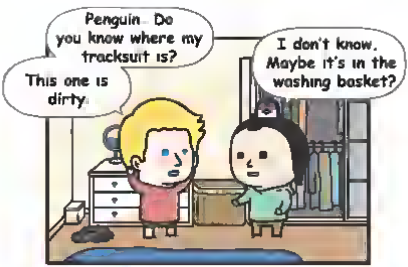
The laundry was totally Mev's job a few months ago.



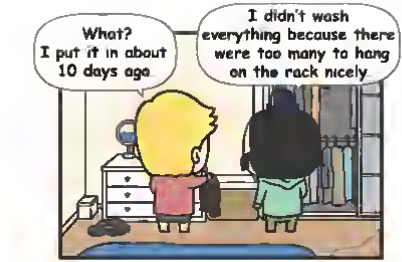
As he only washes these on the weekend,
it's always too full.
Hmm...

They dry better when I spread them out well on the rack.

However, since some point, I started to do it again.

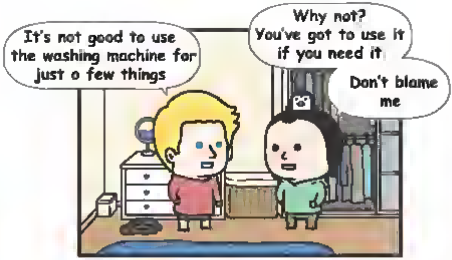


Then one day.

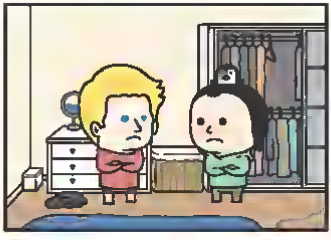


What?
I put it in about 10 days ago.
I didn't wash everything because there were too many to hang on the rack nicely.

See? As you keep on doing my job,
it causes this trouble.
You should have told me that you needed this or you could have washed it too.



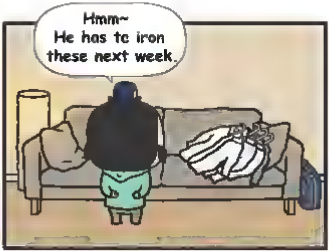
We argued about it.



Well, like always,
the argument wasn't long.

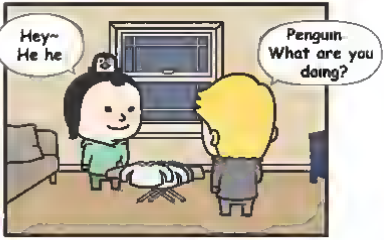
However, it made me feel a little bit uncamfortable.

That afternoon, when Mev went to his gym.

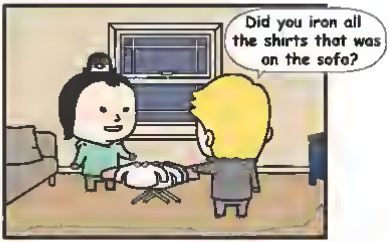


I decided to iron his shirts for him.

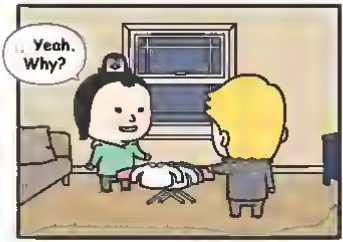
When I'd just finished the last shirt, Mev came back home.



What I'm doing? Here, I did this for y .



Did you iron all the shirts that was on the sofa?



Yeah.
Why?

I'd ironed them already.

To do nothing is better.
